

Meet Steve Kaye

Steve Kaye has two decades of professional experience in Organizational Development, Team Building, and Executive Coaching. Steve is known for his highly interactive participatory style of seminars. Participants leave his sessions with practical and applicable materials that make an immediate difference. Steve has the ability to assist his clients in understanding how their personality style and methods of conflict resolution impact their leadership and team building skills. Steve's diverse training, experiences as a, business consultant, congregational rabbi, hospital chaplain and years of clinical social work practice are evident in his successful work with, businesses, professional staffs, boards, communal and governmental agencies, and non-profit organizations.

Steve served as adjunct faculty at the University of Denver Daniels College of Business - Department of Management MBA program where he taught: "High Performance Management" and "Human Resources Management". Steve was also adjunct faculty at the University of Denver Graduate School of Social Work. He instructed classes in group theory, social work with groups, and team building. Steve has earned national certification as a Myers-Briggs Type Indicator [MBTI] administrator. He is an Authorized Wiley Partner with their PXT and The Five Behaviors of a Cohesive Team assessment tools.

Steve's consulting services in coaching and organizational development has been utilized by an array of owners, principals, managers and senior leadership in the business community. Steve has presented leadership, time-management, conflict resolution, leadership development, MBTI workshops and Five Behavior keynotes, workshops and multi-day seminars for a wide array of senior leadership and teams in health care, law enforcement, governmental agencies, businesses and non-profit organizations.

Steve is proud to be an active member of the American Red Cross National Spiritual Care Critical Response Disaster Team and serves as the Colorado/Wyoming Disaster Spiritual Care Advisor.

You can reach him at Steve@StevenKayeConsulting.com -303-757-1372